

BECKMAN WINS OUT IN COUNT

Official Figures Give Him
Two More Votes Than Opponent

NO OTHER CHANGES

Conrad, Rank and Pugh Win Out for Board of Education On Republican Ticket.

The official abstract of the vote at the primaries Tuesday made no change in the results as announced in Wednesday's issue of the Advocate except in the case of the vote for councilman in the Second ward. Messrs. Beckman and Honenberg were tied for high honors on the Democratic ticket in this ward. The official canvass of the vote casts shows that Mr. Beckman wins by two votes over his opponent, Mr. Honenberg. In Wednesday's account of the primaries, no count was given on the Republican race for places on the ticket of the school board. At 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon the election officials had just started the canvass of the returns for these candidates and it was too late in the afternoon when the count was finished to get the figures in with those of the other candidates.

There were three men to be nominated for places on the ticket as candidates for school board. Seth M. Haight had no opposition on the Democratic ticket and he was given a vote of 1189, which is large considering the light vote cast. On the Republican ticket, Messrs. Conrad, Rank and Pugh were chosen, the fourth man in the race, Henry C. Cochran, giving Joseph Pugh a close run. Mr. Pugh had the advantage of "Senator" Cochran as the latter spent the last two weeks of the strenuous (?) campaign in the wilds of Michigan sleeping under Indian tepees and communing with nature in general. During his absence his opponents took advantage of his laxity and tore down some of the fences he had so carefully mended before his departure.

The official abstract for the more important offices will be found in another column and the official figures for the candidates not given in the table, are given herewith. It will be noticed that in many cases there was no opposition and the candidates for these offices received the entire vote of their respective parties.

JURY MAY GET CASE YET TODAY

Judge's Charge Delivered

Counsel Made

WITNESSES RELEASED

Beulah Binford Refuses to Leave
Until Night and May Go at Once to New York.

Chesterfield, O., Sept. 7.—One of the final steps which will lead to the freeing of Henry Clay Beattie or send him to the electric chair for the murder of his wife, took place when Judge Watson delivered his charge to the jury. After reviewing the law of murder as to premeditation, malice and deliberation, the judge took up the proof of circumstantial evidence. The charge throughout was very favorable to the defense, and when it was concluded Beattie, his father and his attorneys conferred together in pleased whispers. Attorney Gregory then arose to make the opening argument for the prosecution. His argument bristled with quotations from the Scripture and was formidable in legal verbiage. During his hour and a half of scathing denunciation the prisoner sat calm and unmoved and not a eyelid quivered as the lawyer demanded his life in return for that of his murdered wife. Attorney Hill Carter then started the opening plea for the defense. The indications were that the case would reach the jury late today.

PAUL BEATTIE RELEASED.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 7.—Paul Beattie, cousin of Henry Clay Beattie Jr., who was the commonwealth's star witness against the man accused of wife murder, and Beulah Binford, Henry's 17-year-old sweetheart, who has been held as a material witness against him, were both released from the county jail here today by order of Judge Watson. Paul left the jail as soon as notified of the order, but the Binford girl declared that she was not yet ready to depart and remained in her cell.

It is thought that she will leave the prison under cover of darkness. Arguments by attorneys to save the life of the young prisoner were continued today, while detectives for the prosecution were hard at work looking up new witnesses. They want to be prepared for a mistrial, it is stated. The detectives were today on the trail of the man who claimed to be an eyewitness to the slaying of (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4.)

SEC'Y WILSON SAYS TAFT AND CLARK WILL RUN

Denver, Col., Sept. 7.—William Howard Taft and Champ Clark are picked by Secretary of Agriculture Wilson as opposing candidates for the presidency in 1912. The secretary made this prediction today before the dedication of the huge dam at Standley Lake, where he will officiate. "I want to find out just how the west is going," he said. "I think President Taft will undoubtedly be renominated. He deserves it. Champ Clark seems to be the strongest Democratic candidate, although Governor Woodrow Wilson is rivaling him. Clark however, has a great following through the thickly populated middle west."

WANTS SENTENCE SET ASIDE IN COURT

Columbus, Sept. 7.—With two sentences hanging over him, Christian Geiger of Lima is fighting hard to escape the penitentiary. Yesterday he applied to the supreme court for leave to file a petition in error to knock out the seven-year sentence imposed for burglary and larceny. He is also trying to get the ten-year sentence given for forging a signature to a United States bond set aside by the supreme court.

FEATHERLESS HEN WEARS NEAT SUIT

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 7.—The home of wonderful fish and game may be Winsted, Conn., but Saratoga has a hen that wears clothes. Her name is Jennie and she lives on the Williams farm. Jennie was born without the sign of a feather and as she grew to henhood not a vestige of covering appeared. Recently the hired man noticed Jennie shivering in a corner. He had an idea. The hen was measured for a suit, and now she wears a natty gray uniform with buttons down the front and holes for her wings. Once the laughing stock of the flock, she is now the envy of all the barnyard population.

REFUSES $10,000 FEE TO MARRY COL. J. J. ASTOR

Newport, R. I., Sept. 7.—A tee of $10,000 to marry John Jacob Astor and Miss Madeleine Talmake Force has been refused by the Rev. Edward C. Johnson, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church of this city. Dr. Johnson was called to the office of a local attorney, on Aug. 29, according to his statement yesterday, and there the offer was made. The attorney told Dr. Johnson the ceremony was planned for some time between Monday and Thursday of this week. Under the recently enacted state law it is necessary for a nonresident to file notice of intention to wed five days before the marriage license can be issued. Miss Force is not a resident of Rhode Island and so far as known her intention has not yet been filed.

METHODIST WON'T OFFICIATE.

Little Compton, R. I., Sept. 7.—Rev. Fred L. Brooks, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church here, has been asked to officiate at the marriage of Colonel John Jacob Astor and Miss Madeleine Talmake Force and has declined, owing to the restrictions which his church places on the marriage of divorced persons. According to Mr. Brooks, the wedding was set for today and was supposed to take place in Newport.

CAN'T FIND PARSON WHO WANTS $1,000

New York, Sept. 7.—Balked at every turn by the refusal of ministers of Episcopal, Baptist or Methodist to marry him, to Miss Madeline Force, Col. John Jacob Astor is today reported to have sent his private secretary on a motor tour through Connecticut in an effort to secure a clergyman who will perform the ceremony. It was learned that this was the proposed wedding day for the Colonel and Miss Force, but their plans fell through, because their search with a $1,000 fee for a Rhode Island clergyman who would marry them was in vain.

WAITRESSES ON STRIKE.

Cleveland, Sept. 7.—Fifty waitresses employed in the restaurant department of the Chandler & Rudd Company's store, went on strike yesterday because Mrs. Dowell, their forelady, had been removed from her position. Mrs. Dowell had been forelady nine years. Firm members have not decided what action they will take.

HEAVY GALE WRECKS BOATS

Chicago, Sept. 7.—A gale blowing with the fury of a hurricane that swept South Lake Michigan this morning has strewn the Chicago harbor with wreckage and many yachts and small crafts have been dashed against the piers and sunk. A number of freighters outside the harbor are reported in distress and passenger boats due here at 7 a. m. were several hours late. The gale was the most severe known here in years.

CONSIDERING PROBLEM

Committeemen and Officials Refuse to Divulge Progress of Efforts to Settle Trouble.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—Reports are rife that the highest officers of the nine international unions have declined to support the shopmen of the Illinois Central railroad, which materially lessens the chances of a strike being called. The committee of international officers had another conference here, but they declined to issue any official statement of their position. They admitted, however, that the question of a strike is not fully settled. It was intimated that they had sent word to the Illinois Central shopmen that they could call a strike if they desired, but that the international unions could not at this time authorize such action.

The international committee was in session again last night, seeking to suggest some way to adjust the existing differences without a strike. At the close of the conference, W. F. Kramer, secretary of the International Association of Blacksmiths and Helpers and chairman of the international committee, said there was no news to be made public.

The committee having been wrestling with the problem for two days and having made no announcement of the nature of its deliberations, Chairman Kramer's statement was taken as an indication that the committee was exerting every effort to bring about a peaceful settlement of the controversy. It was reported, however, that many of the international officers, after a careful canvass of the situation, felt that a strike of the shop employees at this time would be inadvisable, if not disastrous.

For two days they have been discussing the prospects, and, mindful of the expressed desire on the part of the shopmen to strike if necessary in order to force the railroad to recognize the Federation as an organization, were slow to refuse international sanction of the strike.

C. H. Markham, president of the Illinois Central railroad, declined to make reply to the communication sent him by Secretary Kramer, attempting to show that the unions had not, as he charged, violated the 30-day notice clause in asking for a conference.

The arrival here of Julius Kruttschnitt, vice president and director of maintenance of way of the Harriman lines, was expected to develop a bearing on the Illinois Central labor differences.

Kruttschnitt went direct to his offices, where he was in conference with his assistants for several hours. He declined to discuss the labor dispute on the Harriman lines, but said he might have something to say later.

The Illinois Central shopmen's leaders appear to be divided into three views regarding a plan of action for the future. It is said that representatives of the federated body favor the calling of an immediate strike regardless of what action is taken by the shopmen of the Harriman lines.

A few of the international union officers are said to favor delaying action of any kind until the outcome of the dispute on the Harriman lines is settled, while another element is in favor of submitting a plan of arbitration to the railroad. It is said that the inability of the different elements to agree on what shall be done is prolonging the conference.

Shortly before noon Mr. Kruttschnitt said:

"I am not interested in any official way in the Illinois Central railroad labor trouble and know nothing about it except what I have read in the newspapers. The Harriman and the Illinois Central are entirely independent and I do not see how I could be called in conference with President Markham. In regard to the situation on the Harriman lines there have been no new developments since I left San Francisco last Saturday. I have had no communication with the labor men and they have had none with me. We were compelled to deny the demands of the men because of their unreasonableness."

Still Hungry for Baseball. Portsmouth, Sept. 7.—Still hungry for more baseball, local fans inaugurated a movement yesterday for a four-city league, composed of Portsmouth, Chillicothe, Huntington and Mayville. The plan is to have the pick of Ohio State, Blue Grass and Mountain League stars represent these cities and play a schedule of 18 games commencing Sept. 15 and ending Oct. 3. Umpires will be Truly and Pastorius.

Denver Pair for Boston Americans. Denver, Sept. 7.—Pitchers Tom O'Brien and Casey Hagerman, two of the mainstays of the Denver club, leading the Western Association, left last night to join the Boston Americans.

Frank Gotsch Breaks Camp. Chicago, Sept. 7.—Frank Gotsch broke camp yesterday and left last night for St. Paul. He was accompanied by his wife and will spend several days at the Minnesota state fair. Then he will go to Hingham, Ia.

The question of a match with Zanesville was unsettled, but Gotsch expressed his willingness to take on any of a half dozen wrestlers who now are clamoring for a match.

The champion will start on his wrestling tour in about two months.

Even with their fellow townsmen, the Grants, rooting for them, the Yankees came off second best in their meeting with Washington. The Hilltoppers got almost as many hits as the Senators, but not at the psychological moment.

"Them Cubs" took it mean advantage of the Grants during the local "cove" vacation and cut down the New York lead perceptibly.

So now it looks as though Brooklyn will have to be the goat for McGraw's men in for a spanking if they don't build up that lead again. German Schaefer proved a joy forever to the New York fans, for in addition to his interesting, permanent good nature, he displayed not a little class as a first sacker.

"Gee, it's easy to tell them how to play it when you're in the stand," observed Larry Doyle. "I wish I could do it every day."

Marty O'Toole has started off right smartly to prove that he really is a $22,500 pitcher in spite of the calamity howlers. Now the fans are wondering what he will be in a couple of years if he can start off and win his first three games in major league company.

Philadelphia's double barreled defeat of Boston makes the eighth time this season the Athletics have bagged two games in one afternoon.

The Yanks at least have the satisfaction of knowing that being bumped back into fourth place means they can slip any further, while Boston persists in staying in the second column.

It looks as though Dave Altizer, soldier-boy player, who was with Washington, Cleveland and Cincinnati before going to Minneapolis last season, may be back in the majors soon. Dave has been hitting at a great clip and appears to be a sure enough "come back."

A score of 9 to 0 looks like a foretaste of what St. Louis really did "fight" it out with Chicago.

BEATTIE

(Continued from Page 1.) Mrs. Beattie, but just what use they will make of the evidence is no one quite plain. It was stated positively today that the prosecution would make no attempt to reopen the case.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 7.—While counsel for both sides in the trial of Henry Clay Beattie Jr., indicted for wife murder, conferred with Judge William A. Watson here yesterday, concerning the legal basis for the arguments today at Chesterfield C. H., detectives for the commonwealth investigated a charge that Beulah Binford, the so-called girl in the case, was an accessory before the fact.

The prosecution applied to Judge Watson to delay the release of the girl from custody at least until today. Judge Watson was informed that if the investigation was successful, the Binford girl might be arrested and indicted as an accessory.

Judge Watson received a telegram from a man in Chicago, advising that Paul Beattie, a cousin of Henry, had indicated in an accessory in Chicago, going declaring he would come to Chesterfield C. H. to testify if it was so desired.

Detective L. L. Scherer, who has been chief in working up the case of the prosecution, repudiated any such purpose as to Beattie, but said the investigation as to the Binford girl had not been completed.

Doubts if She Will Be Accused. "I do not attach much importance to it," said Scherer last night, "and it is quite probable that Beulah Binford will be released tomorrow. Yet, we are working on the information received and will continue to do so regardless of her release tomorrow, or the verdict in the case."

Detective Scherer made this statement immediately after leaving the county jail last night, where he talked with the girl. The latter fretted at the detention and accused the prosecution of connivance in preventing her from testifying because they knew she could get a bigger contract on the stage if she had been allowed to take the stand. When she learned of the investigation made yesterday, she was greatly irritated, as she had hoped to gain her freedom today. The report on which the investigation was based came first in a telegram from the west, which alleged that Beulah had knowledge of plans for the tragedy.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 7.—When Beulah Binford, known for her connection with the Beattie murder case, was informed by her mother that the attorneys and judge had agreed to release her from jail today, she laughed and said she would go to New York on the first boat.

"Will you go alone?" she was asked. "Well, I reckon I had better not tell about that," she replied.

Beulah would not say why she was going to New York or what she will do there.

"I would give a million dollars to see Harry eat his Sunday dinner with his family," earnestly declared Beulah as she leaned across the iron stairway in the jail. "I think he is innocent. No one knew him as well as I do could believe anything else. I think he told the truth."

Mrs. Binford appeared at the conference of the lawyers and judge yesterday and asked that Beulah be released. The judge decided that he would defer action, but the mother was assured that the girl would then go free.

The arguments of the attorneys were of a technical legal nature yesterday.

Charlie Hickman Let Out. Toledo, Sept. 7.—Announcement was made here yesterday that Charlie Hickman, outfielder, who was released by Toledo a few weeks ago and then signed with Milwaukee, has been given his unconditional release by Manager Barst. Hickman has played with many of the major league teams during his baseball career.

Should Encourage Back to the Farm Movement in U. S.

Washington, Sept. 7.—Strikingly illustrative of the arguments that a "back to the farm" movement should be inaugurated were statistics made public by the census bureau today, indicating that during the last ten years the percentage of increase in the number of farms had fallen far behind that of the increase in population. According to the figures covering the ten year period beginning in 1900, the population of the nation increased 21 per cent, while the number of farms increased only 10.5 per cent. More remarkable, however, was the showing in the increase in the value of farms. Farm lands, exclusive of buildings, were valued at $13,959,908,000 in 1900, and in 1910 they were worth $28,286,770,000, an advance of 117 per cent.

CAN MAIL ORDER HOUSES SELL DEPENDABLE MERCHANDISE CHEAPER THAN THE HOME MERCHANTS?

BY O. A. CHARLES.

[Copyright by O. A. Charles, 1910.]

In order to intelligently discuss the question as to whether or not mail order houses can sell dependable merchandise cheaper than home merchants we must first see where the mail order house gets the goods they offer for sale.

In reading the catalogues of the principal mail order houses we find that these houses claim they manufacture a large percentage of the goods they sell. Now, then, to be able to sell these goods so much cheaper than the home merchant it would be necessary for the mail order house to manufacture these goods cheaper than the manufacturer who produces merchandise for the home merchant.

Is it reasonable to suppose that the factories owned and controlled by the mail order houses are any more proficient in the making of merchandise than are the independent factories of the country? Is it true, rather, that a manufacturing concern, which is managed by the men directly and financially interested in the success of the factory will have a better management than the factory that is managed by an overseer or foreman, who is not in any way financially interested, but who is working merely for salary? Isn't the man with his capital as well as his salary, depending on the success of his factory, keener and more industrious in producing the product that he is manufacturing than a man who is merely foreman of a factory?

The economic history of our country proves that the concerns making the best goods at the most reasonable prices are the independent or individual manufacturers. The reason for this is that the man who has risked his capital as well as his time and labor is more vitally interested, consequently works harder and thinks harder to make his project a success.

Another phase of manufacturing goods which enters into this argument is this: the mail order house is forced to produce merchandise to sell at a low price. The independent or individual manufacturer makes goods not to sell for a certain price, but to produce certain results. Then isn't it a fact that the concern manufacturing goods to sell at a low price is going to use the cheapest material, the cheapest labor, and to turn out the cheapest product in order to be able to sell the goods at the low price?

On the other hand, isn't it equally true that the manufacturing concern making goods that must produce certain results is going to use the best material and the most skilled labor to make merchandise that will produce the required results, knowing that if they can not do this they can not get a fair price for their product?

In other words, the mail order houses have to manufacture goods to sell at a very low price—really made to sell, while the goods sold by the home merchants are manufactured to give service.

Now in order to sell merchandise so much cheaper than local merchants, the mail order house must buy cheaper as well as manufacture first grade goods just as cheaply as can the mail order houses, but manufacturers all make different grades of goods.

It is impossible not to make mistakes in construction. Manufacturers can not afford to throw away the imperfect work nor can they destroy an article that may have been accidentally marred in the making, but conscientious houses are honest in these matters. The progress of construction is watched with care, each imperfection of material or workmanship is carefully noticed; the result is different grades of goods—firsts, seconds and thirds.

When the local merchant buys, he knows his goods must be sold before the eyes and in the presence of the purchaser. That every article and every part of it must be subject to careful personal inspection; not only this, but it goes to a regular customer who resides in the immediate vicinity of the merchant, and the goods must stand the test of actual use. The home merchant whose business depends on pleasing his customers dare not buy any but the first grade of goods for which he, of course, must pay the price of first-grade goods.

Much different is it with the catalogue house. Because they sell their merchandise by printed pictures and descriptions, and the weak stick can be painted and polished as well as a strong one. Printed pictures and eloquent language do not reveal the weak places.

When the article is sold by the mail order house it does not go to a customer with whom the catalogue house is in almost daily contact nor is it subject to the test of use in sight of the store where it was purchased; on the contrary, the picture on the printed page is the thing inspected and the description does the selling. It is the most natural thing in the world, therefore, that the catalogue house would buy and sell inferior goods, seconds and even thirds.

Then the catalogue houses hold up their prices in comparison with the local merchants, while in fact they are comparing second and third-grade goods with the first-grade goods that the local merchants have to sell.

A PROFESSIONAL VISIT

By A. TOMLINSON FORD

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

Tom Murphy was a lusty lad not long from the Emerald Isle. He could never see any work going on but he must be in it. His fort was emergencies. If a man needed to be dug out from under a pile of bricks or earth Tom's pick and shovel were always in the advance of others. Did some one tumble in a well Tom was the person to go down and rescue him. Indeed, Tom was always about when an accident occurred and the principal man in the salvage gang.

But great strength in one direction is usually at the expense of strength in another. Let Tom get sick and he was the veriest coward and whimperer in the land. At the slightest ailment he would take to his bed and groan and fret and wonder why the doctor didn't come, keeping his mother and his little sister Nora waiting on him.

Then the moment the pain left him he was covered with shame at his timidity. He kicked off the cover, bounded out of bed and seized upon any method convenient or otherwise to show those about him that he was, after all, a man.

One afternoon Tom was seized with a griping. As usual, he got into bed, dispatched his younger brother for the doctor and roared for restoratives. His mother brought hot water, dipped a towel in it and clapped it on Tom's bare stomach. Tom howled with pain, for the water was near the boiling point and took the skin off. His mother ran to the water cooler with another towel, soaked it in and, running back to the bed, put it where she had put the other one. A terrible chill ran through the invalid, and the griping increased fourfold.

"If the doctor don't get here within five minutes," he cried, "I shall be a dead man."

But before the five minutes were up the pain suddenly left him. He sat up in bed and looked about him.

"Lie down," said his mother. "The doctor is coming and if he finds you able to sit up he will be very angry. We've been hurrying him, telling him that you were at death's door."

"Tom lay back on his pillow and covered himself up. Presently he heard a commotion without and fragments of sentences. "Holy mother, he'll be drowned!" "Run quick," "What's the matter?" and such like phrases. Jumping out of bed, Tom ran into another room where he could look for half a mile down the road. There was the doctor's automobile rolled down the bank beside the road till it hung on the margin over the river. The chauffeur was swimming, while the doctor was holding the auto to keep it from sliding into the water.

"Give me me clothes," cried Tom. "Quick, the doctor's auto will be lost!" "Bad luck to you, Tom," said his mother, "for an idler. We've been telephoning 'em sendin' for the doctor to save yer loife, an' now yer goin' to lift his automobile!"

"Me clothes, me clothes!" was all the reply they received. They brought them, and while he was putting them on he cried:

"What for to bed?" "What for?" asked Nora. "So we can tell the doctor that a mistake was made."

By this time Tom had got into his shirt, his trousers and his boots and dashed down to where the doctor was holding the auto. Tom grabbed it and with the strength of a young bull tugged at it until he got it to a place where it was safe from further injury. Then the doctor looked at him surprised.

"I thought you were dying," he said. "Ye'r mistaken; it's Nora. Hurry, doctor. She's got rumatiz and pneumonia and stomach ache all at the same time."

Society

Many of Newark's young people in the past few years have chosen the stage as their profession and several of them are rapidly climbing the ladder to fame, among these is Miss Zoe Fulton of this city. Miss Fulton possesses a beautiful voice, which by broad study and earnest application, is placing her among some of the most talented people of today. For several years Miss Fulton was with Grace Van Studdiford and this season enters upon the threshold of the desire of all singers—grand opera.

Miss Fulton has been spending her vacation of a month this summer at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Fulton of East Main street and has just returned to New York City. She will appear in the coming season with the Aborn English Grand Opera company singing the mezzo soprano roles.

Milton and Sargent Aborn have engaged Louise Le Baron as prima donna contralto with the Aborn English Grand Opera company which will open its annual tour at Albany September 21st. The list of the principal artists with the company include Edith Helena, Jane Abercrombie, and Elsa Silverling, sopranos; Leonid Samoloff, Domenico Russo and Arthur Green, tenors; Louise LeBaron, Hattie Belle Ladd, and Zoe Fulton, contraltos; Louis Kreidler and Ernesto Torti, baritones; William Schuster, basso; Philip Fein, buffo; Carlo Nicotia, first conductor, and Emanuel Camcin, assistant conductor.

Some of the operas sang by the company are Thais, Lucia di Lammermoor, Martha and Tales of Hoffman. The company plays an engagement in Columbus later in the season.

Miss Lorena Miller entertained a number of friends Monday afternoon with a thimble party at her home in North Fourth street. This was the second of a series of parties being given by Miss Miller. About twenty guests were present.

The Harmonious club will be entertained on the club day next week Tuesday, by Mrs. T. E. Adams at her home in the Granville road.

Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Burch returned home from Defiance, O., Tuesday evening. Mrs. Burch had been taking treatment at the Defiance Hospital for the past two months, and is much improved in health. On their arriving at Hebron they were met at the car by friends and relatives, who accompanied them home, where a social evening was spent. A dinner prepared by Mrs. Helen Combsford was served. Mrs. Burch was very much impressed with the reception given her and will ever cherish the many favors and kind words of her friends and appreciate their thoughtfulness of her welfare to the fullest extent.

AN AUTUMN HAT TRIMMED WITH COQUE FEATHERS.

Big, soft felt hats, bent up in picturesque style, are being worn by the younger women with smart autumn suits of tailored type. The hat pictured shows the fancy for peaked effects, almost all the new hats of this order showing a sharp peak somewhere in the brim—usually over one or both ears. This hat, of smoke gray felt of beautiful, flexible character, has a band of fancy blue and green braid around the crown and a new coque feather plume tumbling from the top of the crown to the brim at one side near the back.

LOUGHRIDGE-KING.

One of the most beautiful weddings of the early fall season occurred at the Fifth street Baptist church Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when Miss Lydia Marie King, the popular and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. King of Sharon Valley, became the bride of Mr. James C. Loughridge of Granville.

Just as the afternoon was fading into twilight, Mrs. Charles Keller beautifully sang "Annie Laurie" and "Beloved, It is Morn." The last notes of the sweet singer were lost in the first sounds of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin. The bride party was led by little Miss Urie Loughridge of Chicago, gowned in white lingerie, who carried the ring in the depths of a pure Easter lily. She was followed by the bridesmaids, Mrs. Fred Rogers, gowned in white batiste, carrying white asters, and Miss Elizabeth King, sister of the bride, gowned in blue silk, carrying white asters. The groom's attendants were Mr. Olney and Mr. Fred Rogers. Following came the bride on the arm of the bridegroom. She looked exceptionally pretty in a beautiful gown of white silk poplin. She wore a wreath of tulle and lilies of the valley and carried an armful of bride's roses. They were met at the altar by the officiating clergymen, Rev. Jos. A. Bennett and Rev. Dr. Newell of Granville, who assisted. Here before a bank of greenery the beautiful ring ceremony of the Fifth St. Baptist church was used, while the organist, Miss Bertha Stevens, softly and sweetly played Traumerli. Mendelssohn's wedding march was used as the processional. Mr. Nelson Dodd, Dr. Charles Keller, Mr. B. Spencer and Mr. Morris Wyley acted as ushers.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, to which about sixty guests were invited. The bride party was seated at the bride's table, where the color scheme of green and white was artistically carried out in a large centerpiece of fall roses and ferns, while ribbons and hand painted place cards added beauty to the scene. The remaining guests were seated at small tables throughout the rooms, where the same color scheme was used. An elaborate five course wedding supper was served, after which the bride and groom left for an extended trip, their destination being unknown.

Mr. and Mrs. Loughridge are both well known in Newark and Granville, where they have a host of friends, who wish them happiness and prosperity in their wedded life. They were the recipients of numerous costly gifts.

The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rogers of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Loughridge and daughter Urie of Chicago, Miss Mary Meriam, Mrs. H. A. Meriam and Mrs. H. A. Meriam of McConnellsville, Mr. Olney of Coshocton, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Loughridge, Mr. Morris Wyley, and Mr. B. Spencer of Granville.

Spiced Grapes. For spicing, wash and stem the grapes, rejecting all that are imperfect. Pulp the grapes by hand, dropping the pulp into an agate kettle. Heat gently over a slow fire and stir frequently until the seeds readily separate, then press through a coarse sieve. To this sieved pulp add the skins, then measure. For four quarters allow a half pint of good cider vinegar, three pounds of granulated sugar, one ounce of whole cloves, a half ounce of cassia buds and two ounces of stick cinnamon. Tie the spices in a bit of cheese cloth, put into a kettle with the vinegar and stir until the sugar is dissolved. Add the grape mixture and boil until almost as thick as marmalade, then bottle and seal.

Peach Whip. Peach whip calls for one cupful of pulp sweetened to taste. The whites of four eggs are whipped to a stiff dry froth and the pulp added, a spoonful at a time with long continuous beating until the mixture is very light. This is to be served at once with cream or a chilled boiled custard sauce.

Facial Neuralgia.
Neuralgia in the face has been cured by applying a mustard plaster to the elbow. For neuralgia in the head apply the plaster to the back of the neck. The reason for this is that mustard is said to touch the nerves the moment it begins to draw or burn and to be of most use must be applied to the nerve centers or directly over the place where it will touch the affected nerve most.

We might just as well commence now to call him Mayor Swartz.

The Democrats were never more unanimous that the right thing was done, notwithstanding the rain storm.

PROMISE WAS KEPT

When a Democratic House of Representatives convened Speaker Clark announced that a saving of $182,000 would be effected by the application of economical business methods in the running of the House. The Republicans predicted that the close of the session would show that this promise could not be kept. But on the day of adjournment Chairman Fitzgerald of the Appropriations committee announced that instead of the promised saving of $182,000, the amount saved was $223,000. "We do not believe that we crippled the operation of the House," declared Congressman A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania, in explaining the methods by which the money was saved, "by abolishing a place in the House organization which had been held for years by a sixteen-year-old girl who never came to the capitol. We do not believe we crippled the operation of the House by abolishing positions of a couple of telegraph operators who had not put their hands to an instrument since the Spanish-American war. We do not believe we crippled this house by abolishing about twenty policemen who never could be found around the capitol, or by abolishing places supposed to be held by men in this building, and carried on the pay roll, drawing $900 to $1,000 a year, who were working at the same time in real estate offices in the city of Washington. We have simply made the operation of this House honest."

Newark will continue its good work of business progress.

MR. F. M. SWARTZ APPRECIATES SUPPORT

As it is impossible for me to thank personally all of the men who gave me support on primary election day, I want through the Advocate to express my deep appreciation of the confidence expressed at the polls. I value the nomination for Mayor very highly. I thank all who voted for my nomination, and esteem the fair treatment I received from every source.

F. M. SWARTZ.

Let the boost for Newark's prosperity continue with increased earnestness and activity.

TAFT'S RECORD "INDEFENSIBLE"

Nearly three-fourths of Mr. Taft's term of office has passed into history. He has had sufficient time to have made progress on lines along which he promised to proceed when he was a candidate for the high office he holds. He made his campaign on a tariff revision downward issue, and today the country is in the grip of the highest tariff tax in its history, in spite of the fact that the President has two separate and distinct opportunities to keep his word. In his three years of office President Taft can be credited with having kept Ballinger in office until the country was nauseated; to have almost succeeded in his effort to give Alaska away to the Guggenheims, and with having quietly co-operated with the food dopers in their campaign to drive Dr. Wiley out of public life. To this "indefensible" record should be added the President's action in framing peace treaties with two nations with whom we are not in the remotest danger of going to war.

At the Governors' Conference at Spring Lake, N. J., forty States will be represented by their executive chiefs; and this time the governors are not to assemble for fun, but for business. The topics on the program are Employers' Liability and Workmen's Compensation laws, State control of public utilities and inheritance taxes. The discussions will doubtless be enlightening, and they may be helpful in bringing some sort of harmony into the discordant policies of the States. Whatever the Governors may propose, however, or whatever they may agree to propose, their proposals will be subject to the vetoes of forty-six State Legislatures—or, what is worse, to their indifference. Gubernatorial advice and guidance in legislative matters may, nevertheless, be of value.

Doctor Cook pops up, again to intimate that he is not yet done with his career in the world. But there is very little question that a harsh and unforgiving world is quite done with him.

THE RASH LOVER.

Reggie, you're a fine young fellow, but you're bound to have your way, and you'll marry Arabella spite of all that I can say. Though advice from me is futile, since you're firm as any rock, though the things I say seem brutal, yet I've simply got to talk. Arabella is a daisy, smoothest girl I ever saw, but the neighbors say she's lazy, and she will not help her ma. She is stylish, she is classy, and her eyes are simply grand but the people say she's sassy to her mother, understand? I have lived and loved and suffered, and I've found it is the law that no sane, well-balanced duffer'd wed a girl who'll sass her ma. She may have thousand graces to adorn her fair young life, but you'll find she'll bust the traces when you get her for a wife. You had better hunt some other damsel in this country wide, for a girl who'll sass her mother will gold brick you as a bride.

STRONG APPEAL MADE FOR GRADING THE ALLEY FROM FOURTH TO FIFTH STREETS

Newark, O., Sept. 7, 1911.
Editor Advocate:
Some time ago there appeared in your paper an article relating to the grading of the alley extending from Fourth to Fifth streets between W. Main and Church, at which time the writer appealed to all persons having civic pride in our city to use their influence to have the alley properly graded and the dangerous and unsightly hill removed.
We regret to note that no action has been taken, and the same conditions continue to exist. The writers of this article have exhausted all known means to have the alley properly graded, but without effect, and now appeal to public sentiment to endeavor to promote the issue.
It would not be an expensive proposition, as the dirt and gravel could be readily sold, and would greatly enhance the value of the property fronting on the alley. It would facilitate drayage and would eliminate the danger to our employees in slippery weather. We know we voice the sentiment of the majority of property holders along the alley and in the vicinity, and believe the citizens of Newark agree that our complaint is just and that the grading of the alley would be a benefit to our city that the slight expenditure would more than justify.
Respectfully submitted,
THE J. F. CHERRY CO.

Maker of Governors Dies in Poverty

Denver, Col., Sept. 7.—Mrs. Helen F. Dixon, "maker of Governors" and for years successful manipulator of political campaigns of the Populist party, is dead here. Her body was found in a one-room hovel where she had evidently died as a result of want and drink. Mrs. Dixon was an extremely brilliant woman, but her career was wrecked by her craving for drink, according to her own confession. It has been said that she placed David H. White in the governor's chair in 1892. The latter years of her life she lived by begging.

BOY WRECKS TRAIN.

Fond du Lac, Wis., Sept. 7.—Leonard Eake, aged 15, living a mile and half from Fremont, Wis., was arrested yesterday by 800 detectives on the charge of causing the wreck of one of the road's fastest trains, the Velvet Special, Tuesday morning, which resulted in the death of three persons.

On the way to the jail at Fremont, Eake is said to have admitted to the detectives that he deliberately broke the lock, but could not lift the switch lever.
Young Eake is said to have told the detectives he was refused a ride on the train by a section foreman and wanted to get even.

OLD TIME REMEDY DARKENS THE HAIR

Gives Color, Lustre to Faded and Gray Hair—Dandruff Quickly Removed.

From time immemorial, sage and sulphur have been used for the hair and scalp. Almost everyone knows of the value of such a combination for darkening the hair, for curing dandruff and falling hair and for making the hair grow.

In olden times the only way to get a hair tonic of this sort was to brew it in the home fireplace, a method which was troublesome and not always satisfactory. Nowadays almost every up-to-date druggist can supply his patrons with a ready-to-use product, skillfully compounded in perfectly equipped laboratories. The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put up an ideal remedy of this sort, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, and authorized druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

If you have dandruff, or if your hair is turning gray or coming out, don't delay, but get a bottle of this remedy today, and let it do what a few days' treatment will do for you.
This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

PASTOR'S LETTER TO YOUNG ORGANIST CAUSES DISMISSAL

Clarence, Mo., Sept. 7.—Members of the Center Street Methodist Church, after talking over the case of their former minister, Rev. H. Howard Johnson, who has confessed to writing a letter to a former organist of the church, yesterday decided that they had no power to take any action against the minister. The meeting was informal and was held at the church.
Oscar Callison, who wrote the letter to Rev. H. H. Johnson which caused him to resign from the ministry, was not present, although he is a member of the board.
Callison refuses to show anybody the letter from Johnson to the girl, found by her sister, which caused him to write to the minister. He will not say that Johnson's letter contained terms of endorsement, but says the girl's relations will be left for the preacher's defenders if any attempt is made to make it appear that the girl took the initiative.
To Rev. H. H. Lenhoff, of Macon, Presiding Elder of the district, Johnson said: "I have no excuse to make for what I have done. I am not guilty of any immorality. There is nothing criminal in my conduct. I have no excuse to offer for the correspondence."
He also expressed deep concern for his family, and asked Lenhoff to come to Clarence and look after them.
Johnson is now somewhere in Iowa. His wife will join him there as soon as she can get away from here.
The girl in the case left here a week ago to teach music in a North Carolina seminary. Mrs. Johnson refuses to be seen, but to friends she expressed her full confidence in and loyalty to her husband.

CORN PRODUCTS CO. MAKES DENIAL

President Bedford of the Corn Products Refining Co., denies Dr. Wiley's statement that the Corn Products Co., secured by pressure a reversal of the Board of Food and Drug Inspection's opinion in regard to the labeling of glucose and corn syrup, when state chemists were unanimous against calling it "corn syrup." He said:
"The Corn Products claim was that corn syrup was a proper and descriptive title, the same as corn meal, or corn sugar is for the other products of corn. Dr. Wiley insisted that the more technical word 'glucose' should be used, which is not descriptive of a product of corn, as glucose is made from potatoes and other products. All the states, with the exception of Wisconsin, have adopted the title 'corn syrup.'"

"The matter was tried in Washington on a rehearing granted by Secretary Wilson, Professor Chandler and other high authorities testifying, Secretary Wilson, Solicitor McCabe and Dr. Dunlap assenting, Dr. Wiley alone dissenting. Dr. Wiley argued the matter in person and presented a brief in which he accused the Corn Products of evil doing, one of which was the watering of stock, which was the reverse; for the stock was reduced and not watered."

Fifty Men Are Accused Of Alaska Land Frauds

Jenau, Alaska, Sept. 7.—A. C. Frost of Chicago, formerly president of the Alaska Central Railway and former president and promoter of the Chicago and Milwaukee Electric Railway, George M. Seward of Chicago, receiver for A. C. Frost & Co.; Bron J. Arnold and 46 other claimants of the Watson coal land group in the Matanuska district of Alaska, have been cited by the Jenau land office to show cause within 30 days why their claims should not be recommended to the commissioner of the general land office for cancellation.

A special agent has filed charges against the validity of each of the claims. The agent alleges:
"That the claimants did not locate and file upon land in good faith, but the locations and filings were made by Frank Watson of Spokane in the interest and for the benefit of A. C. Frost, Henry C. Osborne, Gwyn T. Francis, George A. Hall, Frank Watson, Duncan M. Stewart, O. G. Lahoree and others, in pursuance of an agreement and understanding to which the claimants were parties, whereby they permitted the use of their names for that purpose."

The value of these lands is stated in the indictments as $10,000,000. Frost and his associates are alleged in the indictments to have acted in the interest of the Alaska Central railway.

A WIDOW'S OLD HORSE

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press.

One day the Widow Sanderson was in town, and she found a horse auction going on. The last of the bunch to be put up was an old gray mare. She was skin and bone and then some more. The auctioneer did not slander her character when he called her an old skate.

There was a general laugh of contempt over the old mare, and then some one bid $2. Out of pure sympathy the widow bid a dollar more, and the nag was hers. She was grieved by the crowd, but the prize was hitched behind the wagon and reached the farm in due time without having once fallen by the wayside. There were two hired men to grin and chuckle and talk about crow banquets, but the woman silenced them with:

"Get along, you idiots! Turn that horse out to grass and take good care of her. If she dies her hide will be worth all I paid for her whole body."

This was early in the spring. When the old mare began to fill up she began to improve. In a month her ribs could no longer be counted from the highway, and she began to gambol a bit. It was when another horse was turned into the lot with her of a Sunday that the surprise came. One of the men came up to the house and said to Mrs. Sanderson:

"Say, you come down to the fence and see that old mare!"

"Dead, is she?"

"Dead! Why, she's the liveliest old nag you ever set eyes on! Come down!"

The two horses were having a play. It was a ten acre meadow, and they were circling it. The farm horse was on the gallop and the old mare on the trot, and yet he could not leave her behind.

"She got that gait before a sulky for sure," said the man.

"Looks like it to me," replied the widow. "After this you feed her a few oats every day and use the curry-comb, and don't either one of you boys say a word outside."

The Akron county fair, always held late in September, ranked next to the state fair. Some said the horse racing was even better, because the track was better. When the opening of the entries was announced the Widow Sanderson said to one of her men:

"Joe, here's the money to enter Lady Gray. You can claim to be the owner. You go over to Johnsonville and borrow or buy a sulky and get it here on the sly. The old mare is going into the free for all, and you are going to drive her."

And a few days later she said to the other man:

"Tim, here is a hundred dollars. You go to town and loaf around for two or three days. Bet the money on our horse. Get the best odds you can."

When day and date came they hooted the widow's hired man and his equine. They had bet 5 to 1 before, now they bet 15 to 1. The widow had $400 in the bank. She drew every dollar of it out, and Tim placed it on the mare.

That was a race that is talked of yet. A green driver, an old sulky and a farm horse. As soon as the mare got on to the track her actions betrayed the fact that it was a familiar scene to her, and her driver had the sense to let her take her own way instead of hauling her about. When the bunch got away at last he simply held his horse steady and prayed with all his might. She had "gone some" on the highway, but she seemed to be flying now. She picked up horse after horse until she had the lead, and she came in winner by such a distance that the other horses were hooted off the track. Not a skip, not a break—just a fast and steady pace, and a driver who was so scared that he had to be helped down from his seat.

The roll of money gathered in by the Widow Sanderson on her wagers and by the sale of the mare after the race was exactly the size of a fifteen cent tomato can. With the bundle in a pillow she called on the minister of her church a few days later and said:

"Parson, I know you have figured things up. How much to paint the meeting house?"

"A hundred and fifty dollars," he replied.

"And how much for pew cushions?"

"A hundred."

"And for the red carpets in the aisles?"

"Fifty will do it."

"And can't we get an organ for $500?"

"We certainly can."

"And a bell?"

"Two hundred."

"And how much salary is due you?"

"Well—ahem—well, I don't like to say so, but the sum is about $200."

"Figure it up and count it out, parson," said the widow as she handed over the "tomato can."

"But, widow, I don't understand."

"Won't it at the county fair the other day?"

"Then I can't take it. It is tainted money."

"Parson, don't be an idiot! The men who paint the meeting house will swear. The men who cast the bell will swear. There'll be swearing over the cushions and carpets and organ. There'll be tainted money just as much as this money. You want to swear over your back salary, and, by gum, I'll do some swearing if you don't take the money! There, now!"

And the parson took it.

Strong Healthy Women

If a woman is strong and healthy in a womanly way, motherhood means to her but little suffering. The trouble lies in the fact that the many women suffer from weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism and are unfitted for motherhood. This can be remedied.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

The Splendid Trip
That Made Little
Miller a Sailor

American Boy Learning to Use Water Sled of Honolulu

"I WAS very much interested in reading today," began daddy after Jack had pretended to wind him up like a clock so as to get him started on the inevitable bedtime story, "about a little chap like you whose name was Miller Reed and whose grandfather, the captain of a trading ship, took him clear around to Honolulu and back for his health."

"The youngster was gone 130 days, picked up sixteen pounds in weight, earned $46.50 in wages, learned how to steer and the knots and brought back enough stories to make him the most sought after boy in school."

"One of his best is how he killed an albatross measuring fifteen feet from tip to tip of its wings. You must have heard in school of these great birds, who really seem to sail rather than fly, for they hardly flap their wings at all."

"Well, one of the men made him an albatross hook, which is a flat piece of wood, half round and with a sharp piece of tin shaped like a triangle stuck firmly in it. Stick a piece of pork on the tin and let the thing float out about 100 feet behind the ship, and Mr. Albatross will do the rest."

"Not matter how high up in the air he may be loafing along his wonderful eyes can see that bit of pork, and he'll just flap his big wings and fall right down like a bullet until just an instant before he reaches the water. Then out come the wings, and he lands on the water as lightly as a piece of down."

"Only one peck of his cruel, curved beak and the whole thing is gone, and then the albatross is 'gone' also. The tin holds fast in his jaws, and, right hard as he may try to fly off, he has got to come on deck and get a crack over the head that ends him."

"Then in Honolulu Miller learned to use the surf board, which is about the same in the big waves as a sled is in our winter time on a steep hill. You put the board under your arm and swim far enough out to get back of the big rollers. Then you jump on your board, holding tight with both hands and feet at first, and up you go clean to the top of the big wave and come in dripping and laughing on to the warm sand of the beach."

"After awhile he became so used to the sport that he could stand up straight on his board like the native boys and girls do, and then he felt like a king."

"Is he going to be a sea captain?" asked Jack.

"No," said daddy; "he has got to finish his education. But he learned a splendid lot of things on that trip that he can never forget."

OLD SOLDIER
RECALLS FORMER
VISIT TO NEWARK

It was a pleasant surprise to the Newark community when a former soldier of the Civil War, Mr. Frank Woolson of North Third street, was accompanied by his sister, Mrs. W. A. Woolson of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., where he attended the National Encampment of the G. A. R. He is a member of an Old Guard drum corps of his home town and the organization was sent to Rochester to boost Los Angeles for the next national encampment city. Mr. Woolson served throughout the civil war as the major of the 68th U. S. V. Mr. Woolson states that he visited Newark 50 years ago last month with his regiment enroute home after a three months' service and a delegation of ladies met the regiment at the station and served a fine lunch to the soldier boys.

SUFFERING.

INDIAN GIRL INSANE.

Columbus, Sept. 7.—Florence White-Hawk, the 12-year-old Indian girl who ran away from her home, 335 Belvidere avenue, Saturday evening, by jumping out a widow after she had broken the glass pane, was adjudged insane yesterday by Judge Samuel L. Black.

The girl displayed symptoms of imbecility and at times had threatened to run away with her younger sister and also to kill her. She is imbued with a desire to live in the haunts of her aboriginal ancestors and craves to be where there are plenty of trees.

The Newark police recently spent several days hunting for this girl, having been notified by the Columbus police that she was in Newark.

THE BLANKET FISH.

This Dreaded Sea Monster Wraps Its Body Around Its Prey.

The manta, or blanket fish, is common to the warm parts of the Pacific. Around the Mexican penal colony on Tres Marias Islands, not very far from Manzanillo, it is one of the most efficient guards for the prisoners incarcerated there. Not a man has ever been known to escape from this dreaded prison by swimming. No sooner does a human body strike the water than a school of these monsters appear, flying like giant bats through the sea. They throw themselves on the hapless swimmer, crushing him to the bed of the sea, and there suck the flesh from his bones with their powerful mouths.

The manta grows to mammoth dimensions, though the one which I saw, says a writer in the Wide World Magazine, was comparatively small, not weighing over two or three tons and not being more than fifteen feet across. The fish is nearly square in outline, the wings forming great right angles, which stretch out from the body, giving it a rectangular appearance. The fish swim by flapping these wings and are sometimes called "sea bats" on this account.

Mantas swim with incredible rapidity for what is apparently so ungainly a fish, and once they sight anything in the water, unless it be the speediest fish or shark, they overbait it and simply close it, wrapping the entire blanket-like body around the unfortunate victim. Even with a sharp knife it is almost impossible to reach a vital point in the manta's body. For this reason they are the most dreaded by divers of all the dwellers in the sea, and the diver's life is not without its perils, take my word for that.

The Young Idea.

In a certain school a schoolboy of tender years is said to have produced the following essay on the camel: "The camel is a sheep of the desert. It is called a buckler because it has a hump on its back. The camel is very patient and will lie down and die without a groan, but when it is angry it gets its back up, which is called the hump. The shepherds of camels are called Arabs. When they live in towns they are called street Arabs. When the camel goes on a journey it debks as much as it can to last for many days. Such animals are called acquiducks. Those that cannot carry enough are called liebrates."

Helping Things Along.

"The family in the next flat has three phonographs and four boys with toy express wagons," said Mr. Growcher's wife. "What on earth shall we do?"

"Glad to hear he can do it. I can't."—Baltimore American.

YOUR STOMACH FEELS FINE IN FIVE MINUTES

As there is often some one in your family who suffers an attack of indigestion or some form of Stomach trouble, why don't you keep some Diapensin in the house handy?

This harmless blessing will digest anything you can eat, without the slightest discomfort, and overcome sour, gassy Stomach five minutes after.

Tell your pharmacist to let you read the formula, plainly printed on these 50-cent cases of Pepp's Diapensin, then you will readily see why it makes Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Heartburn and other distress go in five minutes, and relieves at once such miseries as Belching of Gas, Eructations of sour, indigestible food, Nausea, Headaches, Dizziness, Constipation and other Stomach disorders.

Some folks have tried so long to find relief from Indigestion and Dyspepsia for an out-of-order stomach with the common, every-day cures advertised that they have almost made up their minds that they have something else wrong, or believe they're in a case of Nervousness, Gastritis, Catarrh of the Stomach or Cancer.

This, no doubt, is a serious mistake. Your real trouble is, what you eat does not digest; instead, it ferments and turns to acid. Gas and Stomach poison which putrify in the digestive tract and intestines, and besides, poison the breath with nauseous odors.

A hearty appetite, with thorough digestion, and without the slightest discomfort or misery of the Stomach, is waiting for you as soon as you decide to try Pepp's Diapensin.

HEAVY STORM OVER THE MIDDLE WEST

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 7.—Workmen today began clearing the streets of Springfield of a tangle of wires and limbs of trees blown down in a severe storm which swept over the city last night. Though the blow lasted only a few minutes, the city lighting plant was put out of commission, most of its wires being carried down by falling trees. A near-panic occurred in a local theater when the lights went out during the performance, and a number of people were hurt by falling glass. Reports today from nearby districts say heavy damage was done.

DON'T BE EMBARRASSED.

Nothing causes a person more embarrassment than the knowledge that some part of their attire needs apology. Dirty linen is the most common and inexcusable fault, and as long as strong rosin soaps are used in the laundry, streaked washables are inevitable.

Hewitt's Easy Task—the original white laundry soap—is the best clean linen guarantee obtainable. Multitudes of women say so, and you'll agree after a trial. Ask your grocer. Five cents a cake.

WANT CLARK TO FOLLOW TAFT

Friends of Speaker Urge Him to "Swing Around the Circle."

BRYAN REPORTED FOR CLARK.

Quoted as Saying That Champ Will Be "Nominated and Elected" President—Possibility of Selling Olympia and Brooklyn—Proposal to Raise Possums in Australia.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.
Washington, Sept. 7.—[Special.]—The suggestion has been made that Speaker Clark should follow President Taft and make speeches at all places where the president talks, especially if the president should talk very much politics on his western tour. The speaker has lecture dates which will occupy all his time during September, but afterward he will have time to talk politics. His political advisers are urging him to talk politics for two months before the next session of congress in order to place before the country the position of the Democratic party on the various matters of legislation which were taken up in the extra session and which have been outlined for the regular session.

Where Bryan Stands.
Everybody who knows William J. Bryan well is aware that no one is authorized to speak for him on political questions or say what he will do or whom he will support. He is his own mouthpiece. He knows how to get his views to the public. He has been a much interviewed man, and he knows how to place such interviews. Besides he is constantly on the platform and has a newspaper. This, by way of preface to a story which has been brought to the close friends of Speaker Clark.

Bryan, it was said, recently told several of his associates that he thought well of Governor Wilson as a presidential candidate; that his progressiveness was to be commended, but that recently he had inquiries made as to whether Wilson supported Palmer and Buckner in 1896, and such was the fact. While that would make no difference to him (Bryan) it would make a great deal of difference to thousands of Democrats who stood up in that campaign for the party. As to Champ Clark, Bryan is reported to have remarked, "It makes no difference whether I support him or not, for he will be nominated and elected." There was considerable elation among the speaker's friends when this conversation was reported to them.

Magazines by Freight.
Postal authorities are watching with interest the experiment that is now being made of sending magazines and periodicals printed long in advance of date of issue by fast freight instead of in mail cars as formerly. The publishers have also shown a great deal of concern, for it may be doubtful whether the experiment will prove a success. Long ago it was suggested that there would be a large saving by using fast freight for mail matter that was not injured by delays, but neither the postal authorities nor the railroads wanted to make the experiment.

Kind Words For Browning.
Members of congress without regard to party have expressed the kindest feelings for William J. Browning, who is expected to succeed the late Henry Loudenslager in the First New Jersey district. Browning was chief clerk of the house for sixteen years and knows more about legislation than four-fifths of the members. The Democrats have no idea that a Democrat can be elected in that district.

Meyer Not Sentimental.
Protests are pouring into the navy department against selling the Olympia, the flagship of Dewey at Manila, and the Brooklyn, the flagship of Schley at Santiago, to Turkey or any other government. No doubt Secretary Meyer would dispose of these or other ships if he could do so to advantage. There is mighty little sentiment and a great deal of business about Meyer. But there is a strong sentiment among the people, just such a sentiment that has preserved "Old Ironsides," as the Constitution has been called. Several times proposals have been made to dispose of that famous old ship, but the sentiment of the people has been too strong. The idea seems to be that this nation is rich enough to preserve ships which have made history.

Knight of the Road.
"I am always glad to get on a sleeping car," remarked "Red" Hayes of California as he started for the Pacific coast. "I spent much of my early business career on sleepers. I was in business which kept me going from place to place all over the country, and my nights were spent on sleeping cars." Hayes no longer travels for business. He is one of the wealthy men of the house.

Inducements to Negroes.
A consul in Australia reports that there is a movement on foot to raise possums in that continent. "That is published," remarked a southern man, "for the purpose of inducing our negroes to emigrate to Australia. You know the negro is particularly fond of possum, and if Australia gets the reputation of a possum country they sure will be tempted to go there."

HOW HE WAS EXECUTED

By OSCAR COX

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

We may dress up a man in uniform, tuck a horn, a rattle, a drum, in his ear and he will shoot down his fellow beings with great zest. But try to make him kill even one of them in cold blood, then you will see what a difficult matter it is.

There was once a kingdom not as big as Monaco, and that is small enough in all conscience. Little Sonneson was but five miles in circumference. Yet it was a perfect kingdom, for King Shandigrab was a real royal personage, five feet high, five feet around the girth and wore a crown that weighed pretty nearly as much as himself. He had a cabinet, masters of the robes and hounds and courtiers galore. There were 5,000 commoners, with a number of horses, mules, cats and other animals. The general of the army of forty men (mostly effective) was a terrible fellow, with fierce mustaches as pointed as his sword.

But the army and the general were both for show, for the kingdom was under the protection of its neighbor, the emperor of Hollibag, who had been paying it a stated sum ever since the principal part of the territory had been lopped off many centuries before for the benefit of the empire. Besides, the little Sonnesons were the most peaceful people in the world. So tender hearted were they that once when a mosquito flew over them from what is now New Jersey they refrained from killing it, so that it planted all the pools with mosquitoes.

Nevertheless there was once a murder committed in the kingdom by a man named Hans Gotterman. But that was an exceptional case, for he killed his wife, who was a nagger. Perhaps for this extraordinary incident to murder he might have gone scot free had he not been lazy and generally worthless. So he was convicted and sentenced to have his head chopped off.

But here arose a difficulty. There was a royal executioner, but, like the general of the army, he was for show. He wore tights, a mask and all that, constantly carrying an ax on his shoulder. But the ax was wooden and his bearer so tender hearted that when he had fried chicken for breakfast his wife was obliged to cut off his head. At a meeting of the cabinet the matter of Hans Gotterman was discussed, and it was agreed that the royal executioner wouldn't do for the job at all. So it was decided to send a request to the emperor of Hollibag for the loan of his headman. Unfortunately there had been a revolution in the empire, and the royal executioner was so busy cutting off the heads of rebels that he could not be spared.

At another meeting of the cabinet it was decided to offer a hundred pieces of gold to whomsoever would execute the murderer. The offer was posted everywhere throughout the kingdom, and the king and his cabinet waited for some one to step forward, accept it and put an end to Gotterman. But no one was willing to kill a man at the price, and as no other expedient was suggested Gotterman still lived.

One day a mosquito bit him and impregnated him with bacteria that caused a terrible fever. The court waited expectantly, thinking the man would die, but he disappointed them by getting well, and since it cost considerable to keep him the cabinet decided to let him out on his promise to return when an executioner could be found to behead him. He rather objected to this, but his keeper stopped his food and thus forced compliance.

Every few days he would pretend he had heard that an executioner had arrived and go back to the jail, demanding food ad interim. Thus he got to be an insufferable bore. No one could be found to kill him, he wouldn't die. One day it was reported to the king that fifty coal miners had been buried in a mine. These were citizens the state could not afford to lose. The cabinet ordered a hundred men collected at great expense to dig the miners out. They dug a month, when one day, hearing a voice, they made their way with pick and shovel toward the sound. After several days' hard work they broke into a compartment and there found Gotterman.

He said he had gone into the mine for work, but when asked how he had lived so long without food pointed to fifty empty dinner pails. He had gone into the place where the entombed men had placed their dinners. None of the laborers was ever got out alive. Gotterman alone survived the catastrophe. The king was much incensed when he heard the story of Gotterman's rescue and renewed his efforts among the neighboring states for the loan of an executioner, but without success. Then came a written offer from the murderer to cut his own head off for the promised reward. The cabinet could not accept it, because there was a law of the kingdom against suicide.

One day when the cabinet was in council a member presented an offer from a woman who was known to be a frightful shrew to marry Gotterman if she were paid as a dowry the hundred pieces of gold for his execution. The cabinet decided to accept the offer. As soon as Gotterman heard that he must marry the shrew all his courage left him. He had got rid of one nagger and dreaded to be tied up with another. A law was passed compelling him to marry the woman, and she talked him to death within a month.

TEDDY PROTESTS AGAINST TREATIES

New York, Sept. 7.—Strictly avoiding specific mention of the recent peace treaties with Great Britain and France, former President Roosevelt, in the Outlook today, entered a bitter protest against the United States being a party to peace pacts involving national honor, as do the pending treaties.

"It is our duty so far as human nature in the present day world would permit, to try to provide peaceful substitutes for war as a method of settlement of international disputes," says the colonel, "but progress in this direction is merely hindered by the folly that believes in putting peace above righteousness."

MILTON R. SCOTT SOON TO PUBLISH ANOTHER BOOK

"Crimes and Criminals" Title of One Hundred Page Book To Be Issued This Year.

Following are a few excerpts from a 100-page book with the above title which will be published by M. R. Scott some time during the year 1911:

"No one should assume to discuss the prison question who does not, on the one hand, realize the importance of protecting society by the enforcement of the law, and the maintenance of the public peace and order, and on the other hand, does not realize that prisoners are made of the same flesh and blood that we ourselves are."

"Let it not be forgotten that when we lay too much emphasis on the rigor and severity of the law we are discounting, if not crucifying the moral and spiritual forces which are the very soul of Christian civilization. If any readers of this book are unable to reconcile the highest devotion to law and order with an intelligent sympathy for offenders, may the Lord open their eyes as soon as he can get them open!"

"The demand for the utmost rigor and severity of the law without any concern for the correction and reformation of offenders always reminds me of the pious old lady, who expressed herself in this wise: 'The Universalists tell us that every body will be saved, but we hope for better things!'"

"All question of prison reform should be considered from the standpoint of the interests of society—and also from the standpoint of the prisoner's cell, with a realization of his loneliness, his weariness, his desolation, his despair and his hope."

"Brethren, if a man be overtaken in a fault," said St. Paul in his Epistle to the Galatians, "Ye which are spiritual, RESTORE such an one in the spirit of meekness, considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted."

"VENGEANCE, my gentle friends, is a very subtle devil. It hides its real face from our eyes; it denies its own name; it even seeks to clothe itself in the robes of Divine Justice, and ere we are aware, it has taken possession of our bodies and souls."

"Don't build such narrow cells for your prisoners," said Elizabeth Fry to the people of England many years ago, "Your own children may be put into them!"

"If refusing to give offenders against the law the sympathy and consideration which their common humanity demands from us is not the sin against the Holy Ghost, what is that sin—if anybody knows?"

"When we can penetrate the counsels of Deity and determine the exact measure of human responsibility, it will be time for us to ring the changes on the punishment that prisoners 'deserve.' In the meantime, if we can determine the punishment and the treatment they NEED for their own good and for the protection of society, let us be content."

"While I can not accept the claim of our Socialist friends, that all or nearly all crimes and misdemeanors are due to 'economic conditions,' I certainly think that all friends of law and order and FREE GOVERNMENT ought to give heed to the tyranny of the United States Steel Corporation in regarding its employees to work twelve hours a day and seven days in the week, giving them no time for rest, recreation or worship on Sundays and precious little time for home and family life any day in the week. O my countrymen, what are we going to do with this giant corporation which defies all law and gospel, and whose grip is on the nation's throat?"

A few hundred subscribers have already been obtained for Mr. Scott's book, but more are wanted.

CAREFULNESS

In making mortgage loans has characterized the Buckeye State Building & Loan Company, Rankin Building, 22 West Gay street, Columbus, O., from its beginning. This accounts for this large company owning no real estate. It has also loaned its money principally to the small home builder. Hence it has rendered a great service to the people. Its assets are now $4,900,000, and it pays 5 per cent on time deposits.

RICH MEN HELD FOR SMUGGLING

QUARREL WITH WOMAN CAUSES HER TO PLACE INFORMATION IN HANDS OF OFFICIALS.

Alleged to Have Smuggled Gems Into Port of New York During January.

New York, Sept. 7.—Separate indictments accusing Nathan Allen of Kenosha, Wis., and John R. Collins of Memphis, reputed millionaires, of smuggling gems valued at many thousands of dollars into the port of New York, were brought to the light of day yesterday afternoon in the office of United States District Attorney Wise. The indictments had lain on his desk, bearing the seal of the federal grand jury, since Aug. 29, when they were handed down.

The testimony of Mrs. Helena Dwell Jenkins, the woman with whom Allen is said to have quarreled and who broke his friendship not long ago, is understood to have formed the foundation upon which the true bills were found. Allen, a leather manufacturer, is charged in the indictment with having concealed about his clothing a pearl valued at $10,000 when he landed in New York from the Lusitania on Jan. 19, 1909. The indictment further charges him with having failed to declare the gem and with bringing it into the country duty unpaid.

Gold Bracelet Like Snake.
A second count of the indictment charges that Allen also smuggled, on the same date, a gem-studded gold bracelet fashioned in the design of a snake. A third count charges illegal importation of the pearl and the bracelet and other divers articles of jewelry and wearing apparel, on the same date.

This count also charges that Allen was party to a conspiracy with other persons to defraud the government of duties by clandestinely introducing into the country the jewelry and wearing apparel described in the two prior counts.

Collins, a coal operator of Tennessee, was a fellow passenger of Allen, the indictment in the Tennesseean's case recites, and it charges him with having smuggled a necklace consisting of five strands of pearls with a diamond and ruby clasp, a pearl and diamond bracelet and other articles of jewelry and wearing apparel. The charge of conspiracy is also laid at his door, but the value of the articles alleged to have been illegally imported is not estimated in the record.

At the office of the district attorney it was said that the whereabouts of the indicted men is not known. Confidence was expressed, however, by United States Assistant District Attorney Whitney that both men would appear and plead in due time. No bench warrants have been issued.

OIL USED IN PLACE OF FUEL

The small production of coal in California is offset by the enormous increase in the production of petroleum most of which is used for fuel. The oil produced in California in 1910 aggregated between 65,000,000 and 70,000,000 barrels, which, on the basis of 3 1-2 barrels of oil for each ton of high grade coal, would be equal to a production of nearly 20,000,000 tons of coal.

The use of petroleum by the transportation and manufacturing industries of California has practically eliminated coal as a steam-raising fuel in the state. Oil is also used in the manufacture of gas, which is employed for cooking and for heating residences, as well as for lighting. Oil is now also coming into use as a direct fuel for household purposes.

Are you thinking of buying a new range?

You have made up your mind that trying to manage with the old stove is a waste of time and money.

It can no longer be depended upon for baking. One time results are O. K.—the next a waste of effort, materials and fuel.

Making up your mind as to the range to buy is not so easy.

Don't select a range for its outside appearance alone. Beauty is only skin-deep—in some ranges as deep as the blackening on them. So get beneath the blackening in selecting your range. The inside construction of LAUREL Ranges will interest you—and no other ranges present a handsomer outside appearance.

The inside or twin-flue construction of a Laurel Range is the root of its unequalled cooking and baking qualities and fuel saving features.

Woman's Danger Periods Made Safe

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence, and neglect of health at this time invites disease.

Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs. Here is proof:

Natick, Mass.—"I cannot express what I went through during the Change of Life before I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in such a nervous condition I could not keep still. My limbs were cold. I had creepy sensations and could not sleep nights. I was finally told by two physicians that I had a tumor.
"I read one day of the wonderful cures made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it, and it has made me a well woman. My neighbors and friends declare it has worked a miracle for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold for women during this period of life. If it will help others you may publish this letter."—Mrs. Nathan B. Gorton, 51 No. Main St., Natick, Mass.

ANOTHER SIMILAR CASE.

Cornwallville, N. Y.—"I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for some time for Change of Life, nervousness, and a fibroid growth.
"Two doctors advised me to go to the hospital, but one day while I was away visiting, I met a woman who told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and I know it helped me wonderfully. I am very thankful that I was told to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Wm. Boughton, Cornwallville, N. Y., Greene Co.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as those above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

"To Pass Bills Which Would Become Laws."

In these bills which we have passed we did not go as far as some good citizens and good Democrats thought we ought to go, but, as we were trying to pass bills through the House which we hoped would become laws, thereby ameliorating the condition of the people, instead of playing politics by passing bills through the House which we had no hope of being enacted into law, we had to consider five or six bills through which every bill would have to pass. First, the Committee on Ways and Means; second, the Democratic caucus; third, the House of Representatives; fourth, the Senate; fifth, the President. From the beginning we never lost hope that if the House passed good bills the Senate would agree to them and the President would sign them.

In addition to this we had to keep steadily in mind the fact that somehow Congress must provide revenue with which to run the Government. No patriotic American wants to see the government crippled in the full exercise of any legitimate function. Confronted with a Republican Senate and a Republican President and surrounded by the circumstances just set forth, we did the best we could, and, judging from the tone of the public press and from individual expressions of opinion, not only from nearly all Democrats, but from many independents and many Republicans, we have done well indeed. We have steadily sought what seemed to be attainable.—Champlain, in the September number of The North American Review.

CHURCHES UNBUSINESSLIKE.

Rev. Moses Breeze is one of those militant preachers who believe the churches and the ministry need overhauling every now and then, and that more than gentle reproofs are required to arouse them to action. In an article in "Museum" Joseph H. Odell quotes Rev. Breeze as the author of these epigrams:

"If the average business man ran his business as the average church runs, he would land on the financial scrap-heap."

"One great proof to me that the church is divine is that it stays on earth and does business with so little business ability in it; if God were not in it, it would have gone bankrupt long ago."

"The time has gone by when we can trust the financial affairs of our churches to the Good Spirit who takes care of little children and idiots."

"If the men of the world got money from the world as some of the home mission churches get it from the Home Mission Board, they would go to jail for obtaining money under false pretenses."

"It's the man in the church who doesn't put up the dollar who does put up the dollar."

Some churchmen may or may not take exception to Rev. Breeze's conclusions.

AMUSEMENTS

Witnessed By Large Audience.

The following telegram received from Mr. Moore by Mr. England tells of the worth of the coming attraction:

Charles B. Dillingham's musical comedy, "The Girl in the Train," received a capacity audience here to-night. Reception most enthusiastic ever accorded any presentation in Wheeling. In principal comedy role Kolb scored tremendously. Large supporting cast fine. Newark theatre-goers will be delighted with this musical treat. Edward L. Moore.

The Girl in the Train.

Edwin Wilson, who plays the husband in Charles Dillingham's production of "The Girl in the Train," the musical comedy offering that comes to the Auditorium theatre Friday evening, Sept. 8, is a southerner, born in Huntsville, Ala. He lived for a time in Chattanooga and Memphis, making many staunch friends in both cities by his genial personality and rare vocal ability. Mr. Wilson spent two years in London and Paris, studying for the operatic stage, and during that time gave private recitals, at which he sang collections of southern melodies. His first stage experience was with the late Dan Daly in "The New Yorkers" and "The Cadet Girl." Subsequently he played with Eddie Foy in "The Earl and the Girl," and two seasons ago he sang the principal baritone role in "The Waltz Dream." The part of the husband in "The Girl in the Train" is a most difficult one, as it calls for exceptional acting ability, as well as a trained acting voice. Mr. Dillingham tried a number of singers at rehearsals and Mr. Wilson was the one selected as being most capable of fulfilling the exacting requirements necessary for the proper portrayal of the character and rendition of the musical numbers.

The Heart of Chicago.

That perennial success of the melodramatic world, "The Heart of Chicago," by Lincoln J. Carter, will be the attraction Tuesday, Sept. 12, at the Auditorium theatre.

Orpheum.

In the new bill which opened at the Orpheum this afternoon, Dorva & De Leon present a very high class musical act, playing on several different instruments. Prof. De Leon is a well known composer. Mme. Dorva is one of the few who reach high E, which she does while singing from Gounod's "Romeo and Juliet," with amazing ease. Flora Browning & Keller have a novelty act entitled "Variety." Miss Browning is known as the girl with the diamond heels, and her dancing is clever. Mr. Keller is a distinguished whistler. Harris & Beauregard present a rural comedy sketch, "The Country Judge," which contains many a good laugh, being full of wit and fun. Leslie & Day give their eccentric comedy singing and talking skit, "Who? Me?" The Orpheumscope has a good film.

At the Bijou.

The Bijou offers for tonight the big feature, "Cléo and Phylotes," showing the sensational battle with the barbarians. This big feature is shown in two films.

AN ALL-AMERICAN FERTILIZER.

The field force of the United States Geological Survey is prosecuting searches for deposits of minerals which shall furnish the three necessary elements of plant food that are contained in "complete fertilizer," namely, phosphate rock, nitrate salts and potash salts. The Survey has already discovered and surveyed enormous deposits of phosphate rock and 2,398,459 acres of public land containing phosphate, withdrawn at the recommendation of the Geological Survey, are now waiting legislation by congress to enable their development. In order, however, to insure an "all-American fertilizer," regardless of importation from other countries, it remains to discover deposits of nitrate of soda and potash salts. As both of these minerals are readily soluble and are not found as "outcrops" like ordinary rocks, the mission of the Survey is not an easy one. Nevertheless it is believed that the geologic conditions prevailing throughout a large portion of the arid west favored the accumulation during earlier periods of the earth's history of both of these salts, and that if these still exist in concentrated deposits it is only a question of search to discover them. Hardly anything could be suggested which would be of greater assistance to the American farmer than the discovery of commercial deposits of either of these necessary fertilizing minerals.

GARRISON FOR CANAL ZONE

Tenth U. S. Infantry Will Sail for Colon Sept. 14 from Galveston. Part of Permanent Garrison.

Washington, Sept. 7.—The Tenth Infantry, now at San Antonio, Tex., which will form the nucleus of the permanent garrison to be established in the Panama Canal zone, will sail from Galveston Sept. 14, on army transports for Colon. The regiment was selected because it is one of the few organizations recruited up to full regimental strength and thoroughly drilled and trained at San Antonio during the maneuvers.

The regiment will be followed by others in a few months. It is stationed at both the war and state departments that the establishment of the permanent garrison has no connection whatever with political developments in Panama; in fact, there is already on the isthmus, in the shape of the marine contingent and available American employees in the zone, a force quite sufficient to insure the maintenance of the peace there. Great economy has been effected by the adoption of the buildings now used by the isthmian canal workers to shelter the troops, and it is claimed that at a cost of $65,000 the army will be in possession of a post on the isthmus that would otherwise cost $1,500,000.

FITCH'S GRAINS OF HEALTH COFFEE SUBSTITUTE

THE COFFEE TASTE

Sold at All the Best Grocery Stores

Join the Coffee Drinkers Who Are Turning to Grains of Health!

People who have used coffee all their lives are turning to Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH—the first real coffee substitute.

It is simply wonderful how the news has spread since Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH was first tried in this town.

A drink with the actual taste of fine coffee and none of coffee's ill effects? It seemed impossible. But your neighbors have found that it is so.

"You don't know what you are missing if you haven't tasted Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH," said a prominent society woman to another. "It is simply wonderful. It smells like coffee—it tastes exactly like coffee—but you can drink all you want of it and not get the slightest headache."

Fitch's Grains of Health

The Coffee Substitute With the Coffee Taste

is for the coffee drinkers as well as those who dare not touch coffee.

Everybody knows that coffee has a harmful effect—whether you can "stand it" or not.

Caffeine, the powerful alkaloid in coffee, causes the palpitation of the heart; the tremulousness, irritability and depression of spirits so common among coffee drinkers. In quantities it arrests the heart.

In Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH a special high grade blend of coffee is so treated that the caffeine is counteracted. The coffee flavor and the taste remain—but the stings are drawn. The coffee is so combined with roots, herbs and vegetables as to have a tonic health-building effect.

We have multitudes of testimonials—some from distinguished physicians—to show that Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH speedily alleviates indigestion, heartburn, sour stomach, biliousness, sick headache, constipation, etc.

If your grocer cannot supply you, write us, mentioning his name, and we will send you a generous sample package of Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH (enough to serve a large family at breakfast) and a booklet telling you all about Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH. Enclose 6 cents in stamps for postage.

LABOR AND TRADE EDUCATION.

The supplemental trade education commission of the International Typographical Union has sent us a booklet explanatory of its work. This is an effort to overcome the evil effects of specialization in printing-offices which prevents many apprentices from having opportunities to do the better classes of work. The lessons are given by correspondence, and students are taught the principles underlying display and decorative typography. The book contains examples of work done by students before and after taking the Course. These specimens show conclusively the value of the education given in the lessons.

The Course is not wholly for inexperienced compositors. Among the examples is a piece of illuminated, designed and hand-lettered work done by a compositor which would ordinarily be thought the product of an artist. Members of the union who study such questions when the printer should do that kind of work, as the demand is constantly increasing, and it is logically the work of the typographers.

The booklet also contains extensions from about forty students who have taken the Course. Their ages range from eighteen to thirty-five, and a few printers in the sixties are numbered among the commission's clients.

SEVERAL REPORT SUBSTANTIAL INCREASES IN WAGES.

One says $100 should be charged, and a man of thirty-six declares that "printers who don't need the Course are dead."

The national features of the Course were developed after many years of experimenting by The Inland Printer, which employs the instructors. In order that the course of thirty-seven lessons may be within the reach of every printer, the Typographical Union defrays all the promotional expenses out of its general fund. It also gives a rebate or prize to each student who finishes the Course with ordinary diligence and intelligence. The Course is sold for $23 cash, or $25 if paid in installments, which is the cost of tuition, postage, etc. If the Course were on a commercial basis it would cost about $60. In three years more than twenty-three hundred students have been enrolled.

SWIMS ENGLISH CHANNEL IN 22 HOURS

Deal, England, Sept. 7.—After a lapse of 36 years, Captain Matthew Webb's feat of swimming the English Channel has been duplicated by William T. Burgess, a Yorkshireman by birth and naturalized Frenchman. It was Burgess' sixteenth attempt, he having first essayed the task in 1909. Burgess started from South Foreland, Dover, at 11:15 Tuesday morning. He landed at Les Chatelets, a little village two miles east of Cape Gris Nez at 9:50 yesterday morning, accomplishing the passage in 22 hours and 35 minutes. A motor boat accompanied the swimmer and it is estimated that Burgess, owing to the zig-zag course of the baffling tides, covered 60 miles.

Soon after the start a dense fog settled down over the channel and no further tidings of his progress were received until the announcement was made that he had landed on the French side.

Throughout the trip Burgess was favored by a calm sea, but a strong tide was running and a severe strain was put on the swimmer to get past the Goodwin Sands. Twice he was attacked by sickness and several times was only held to his task by the strongest will power and the encouraging words of the men in the boat. He remained on French soil just long enough to telegraph word of his success to his wife and to partake of refreshments in a bathing box. Then he returned by motor boat, to rest and sleep.

When he landed at Deal Burgess received a tremendous ovation and with difficulty made his way through the cheering throng to a hotel.

WANT HIM ON STAGE.

London, Sept. 7.—Rivian London and Paris music hall managers bid against each other today to secure the appearance in their places of Wm. T. Burgess, the second man to swim the English channel. The highest offer so far is $2500 a week. Burgess is yet undecided.

To prove that he was in good physical condition following his long swim, during which he covered enough distance in the water to cross the channel three times, Burgess took a half hour's swim in the sea today. He said that while several times he felt ill and weak in the water, a good rest put him back into condition again.

BROOKS' COMET IS NOW VISIBLE

Columbus, Sept. 7.—Brooks' comet, the most recently discovered of the brilliant comets, could be seen in Columbus last night with the naked eye after the disappearance of the moon, and it will remain visible until the middle of October.

The comet, which was discovered in July, was 10 degrees north of Cygnus, or a little north of meridian, at 9 o'clock last night.

The comet is not a spectacular one as was Halley's comet, and appears to be a mere streak, without particular form. It will not be visible on nights when the atmosphere is smoky or when the moon is brilliant.

Professor H. C. Lord, astronomer at the Ohio State University, focused the observatory telescope on the comet last night for the first time.

He said that on most nights it will be difficult for people living in the city to see the comet on account of the hazy atmosphere, but it will easily be visible in the country.

The comet will continue to grow more brilliant until September 17. Dispatches from the Harvard observatory say that on that date the comet will be at its least distance from the earth, at 47,000,000 miles.

BRIEF MEETING OF CITY COUNCIL HELD WEDNESDAY

The mayor's report was heard at the meeting of council Wednesday evening, covering the month of August. A few other matters were discussed after being introduced by way of petition.

President Orr was absent and President Protom Stare took the chair until his arrival. The first business before the council was the report of the mayor, which follows:

Fines collected in city cases...$179.00
Licenses collected...36.00
Other collections...93.65
Mayor's fees collected in city cases...24.00
Officers' fees collected in city cases...12.00
Fines collected in state cases...420.60
Mayor's fees in state cases...158.00
Officers' fees collected in state cases...79.00

A petition was received and filed signed by thirteen property owners on Tuscarawas street, asking that Council construct a sanitary sewer on that street from Cedar to Oakwood.

Eleven property owners requested in a petition that a certain alley between Hudson avenue and North Fourth streets and about midway between Locust and Log Pond Run, upon which buildings and sidewalks had been constructed be given the name of Meltin avenue. The matter was referred to the street committee.

A communication from the Public Service Commissioner of Ohio was read and also orders 1 and 2 from the same office to the B. and O. and P. handle railroad companies authorizing them to place watchmen at Third street, Pine street and Williams street crossings. The order resulted from a request by F. C. Irwin to this commission asking for an extension of time of sixty days to install automatic bells as required by the inspector.

The commission granted him the extension of time but until bells are installed railroad companies would have to maintain watchmen at these points. These crossings are dangerous to public travel.

A petition from eleven residents on North Pine street was read requesting that the watermain be extended as far north as would accommodate all houses which are now or would hereafter be built. This matter was referred to the committee on public service.

Council was addressed by Henry Andrews of North Twelfth street asking that council take some action to prevent the washouts in Twelfth street near the creek. It was moved that the street committee take this matter into consideration.

NEWBRO'S

HERPICIDE

Saves Worry, Saves Money, Saves the Hair.

If you want to free your head of dandruff and stop falling hair, you must sooner or later resort to Newbro's Herpicide.

By using Herpicide first you save yourself worry, which is desirable, you save money, which is a consideration, and you save your hair, which is the most important of all.

Why not profit by the experience of Mrs. S. A. Lee, of 110 South Fourth street, Richmond, Va., who writes: "Four years' residence in India ruined my hair until it was but two inches long and very thin. I tried everything in Europe and America without benefit until I was induced to use Herpicide. My hair is now long, soft and silky and natural color, while before it was quite gray. My friends never tire of admiring my hair."

Mrs. Lee's story is a typical history of hair troubles. After everything else fails Newbro's Herpicide brings relief. It would be just as effective if used first.

Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ and prevents falling hair. It stops itching of the scalp almost instantly. No matter what the claims of others, Herpicide is the only genuine original dandruff germ destroyer.
